Prof. Dr. Edoardo Antonio Costantino Costantini
President of International Union of Soil Sciences

October 30, 2020

Dear Mr. President, Dear colleague,

Please allow me to congratulate you, on behalf of myself and members of the Czech Society of Soil Science, on your appointment as President of the International Union of Soil Sciences, which serves as a global union of soil scientists and covers the activities of national soil associations.

I am sure that our mutual cooperation will continue to develop, building on cooperation in the field of the IUSS and the European Society for Soil Conservation. One of the bigger events organised by our national association, which we are planning for 2022 along with WASWAC, ESSC, ISCO, IUSS, is the international conference Adaptation strategies of soil and water conservation in a changing climate. I am sure that this will give us an opportunity to meet personally here in the Czech Republic. Until then, you will certainly be able to meet several of our members at EUROSOIL in Geneva, and there are sure to be opportunities to discuss our help in IUSS activities.

I wish you, dear Mr. President, every success in your official capacity, especially in promoting the work of soil scientists and advocating the importance of soil conservation worldwide.

In anticipation of continued cooperation, and with best regards,

Bořivoj Šarapatka
President of the Czech Society of Soil Science
